

Interactive Workshop: CHILDREN'S LITERATURE FOR INCLUSIVE ENVIRONMENTS

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 2019

Chicago campus, 2nd floor Atrium • 6:00–7:00pm

Children's literature is profoundly influential in the lives of students and is widespread throughout schools, libraries and homes. Educators must be knowledgeable on how to use diverse children's literature as a tool to teach about diversity, as they strive to foster inclusive classroom environments for social justice and global citizenship. In this interactive workshop we will share a range of children's award winning books that teachers can use in their classroom curriculum. We will read and analyze a selection of books, discussing ways to make these books accessible to students in an inclusive environment. This workshop will be led by Sadia Warsi, Ph.D. and Ayn Keneman, Ed.D.
